

COVID-19 UPDATE

Dear Member(s)

With Monday May 17th now behind us, with the help of guidance from the RYA we can now begin to change the way we do things at the Club.

Hot water has now been put back on at the Club. Initially the hot taps in the toilets will be working, then when the changing rooms are opened, the showers will be operable.

Before the changing rooms can be used, they will require a deep clean, they will be made available as soon as possible. Their use will be based on Covid-19 guidance which limits use to a maximum of 1 (one) person in each the ladies or gents changing rooms at any one time, this is based on guidance requiring 100sqft per person. Please minimise the time you spend indoors. Please store your kit bag either at your boats berth or in your car if at all possible. The usual conditions regarding the use of sanitizer, face masks and social distancing apply. This will require some thought from all users and will have to be self-policing.

We are aiming to re-open the Clubhouse before the weekend of May 22nd, which is a Junior/Novice race day and a Celebration of Ladies Sailing. Its use as with the changing rooms, will require careful planning. Occupancy will be based on the rule of 6 or 2 households seated at tables. There will be an entrance door and an exit door. Please do not use tables marked "Do not use".

We will be opening the galley. The galley will be operated by Steve Vaughan, some of you may recognise him from T-Sail. The requirement to order, eat and drink while seated ('table service') will apply. We are looking into providing food starting from Saturday 22nd May.

If all goes well and we reach June 21st with no further changes to Government restrictions, we believe all legal limits on social contact may be removed and life will get back to some sort of normality. Until then please take care, remember hands, face, space. Please note that if possible, all visitors should sign in by scanning the Track and Trace QR code on arrival at the Club.

For further guidance, please see below for the most recent RYA Covid-19 FAQ's valid in England.

RYA Covid-19 FAQs valid in England

(Updated 17th May 2021)

These FAQs have been developed in accordance with the 'COVID-19 Response - Spring 2021' Government guidance, The Health Protection \(Coronavirus, Restrictions\) \(Steps\) \(England\) Regulations 2021 and the Department for Digital, Culture, Media and Sport's (DCMS) sport specific guidance.

Please note - the guidance within these FAQs is not intended to cover RYA Recognised Training Centres. Please refer to the COVID-19: Guidance for restarting RYA training activity.

In the sections below we have outlined our current understanding of what activities are permitted.

In relation to the easing of restrictions, we will update this document as and when we receive more detailed guidance from Government departments.

Step 3: Current situation

Step 4: - no earlier than the 21 June

Step 3:

New Government guidance on meeting friends and family will emphasise personal responsibility rather than government rules. Instead of instructing you to stay 2m apart from anyone you don't live with, you will be encouraged to exercise caution and consider the guidance on risks associated with COVID-19 and actions you can take to help keep people safe.

Can I go boating?

Yes, you can go boating. Outdoor sports facilities including sailing clubs can reopen.

Can I travel to go boating?

You can travel to exercise and take part in informal and organised sport.

Is car sharing possible?

Yes. Car sharing is permitted in Step 3, but you must follow the guidance for safer travel, which will be updated ahead of Step 3.

Can I travel overseas to sail/compete / maintain/move/sell/buy a boat?

There will no longer be a legal restriction or permitted reason required to travel internationally. There will be a traffic light system for international travel, and you must follow the rules when returning to England depending on whether you return from a red, amber or green list country. You must also follow the relevant rules for the country to which you are travelling.

Elite sport has a special status in terms of overseas travel, you can find further information on the RYA Covid 19 hub - RYA elite sport status.pdf

International travel for leisure/recreational purposes is permitted to destinations on the Green list, but our understanding of the situation at the present time is that travel to countries on the Amber and Red lists for leisure/recreational purposes will not be permitted.

From Step 3 you will no longer be required to complete a declaration form to travel abroad.

There are exemptions to the travel rules based on job requirements. These include Seamen and masters and inspectors and surveyors of ships.

Can I stay overnight on my boat?

Overnight stays away from home in this country will be permitted subject to the Rule of 6/two households.

Are spectators allowed?

Spectators are permitted outdoors subject to a maximum of 30 people in a group (multiple groups are permitted).

Spectators are allowed indoors subject to the Rule of 6/two households (multiple groups are permitted), but the total number of all participants, coaches, officials and spectators must be aligned with the ventilation rates permitted by the venue. The maximum occupancy of each indoor facility should be limited by providing a minimum of 100 sq. ft per person.

Can indoor facilities and changing rooms open?

Indoor sport is permissible with no limitation on numbers for organised sport.

Changing rooms and showers will be able to open, but you should encourage participants to avoid or minimise use where possible (for example, by arriving in kit and showering at home) and to minimise the time they spend in the changing area.

Participants should socially distance whilst in changing rooms. More than one household can use changing facilities at one time, but they must not mix and must adhere to capacity limits which must be aligned with the ventilation rates permitted by the venue.

The maximum occupancy of each indoor sporting facility (excluding indoor hospitality areas) should be limited by providing a minimum of 100 sq. ft per person. This calculation is based on the footprint of the whole of the building. For this figure, the area is i.e. the net usable indoor facility space available to members to use, including changing rooms, toilet and wash facilities.

Within the maximum capacity for your venue you should consider whether some areas of your facility should have their own limits to ensure social distancing can be maintained. You should also consider how best to manage higher-risk areas like changing rooms, whether through capacity limits or strict social distancing.

Clubs are advised to follow Government guidance on working safely during coronavirus for providers of grassroots sport if opening changing rooms.

Can clubs reopen bars and catering?

Hospitality can open for indoor (subject to the Rule of 6/two households – multiple groups permitted) and outdoor service (maximum 30 people in a group – multiple groups permitted), with no requirement for a substantial meal to be served alongside alcoholic drinks, and no curfew. Where the sale of alcohol is offered all food and drink must be ordered, served and consumed at a table. Where the sale of alcohol is not offered, members/guests will need to be seated when consuming food and drink but can order and collect food and drink from a counter.

The 100 sq. ft per person requirement does not apply to indoor hospitality e.g. bar/galley - hospitality areas are governed by the hospitality guidance.

Will it be possible for people from different households to sail together in the same dinghy, keelboat or yacht and is there a limit on the numbers onboard?

Yes, provided this activity is organised by an NGB, club, public body, qualified instructor, company or charity and follows NGB guidance. These activities should comply with the 'RYA Guidance on Sailing and Racing with Participants from Different Households during Covid-19 in England'. This guidance, which has been reviewed by DCMS as part of the 'Return to Recreational Team Sports Framework', provides context and helps you assess whether it is appropriate for you to sail with someone from a different household and how you can mitigate risks. The guidance recognises that in some situations whilst afloat it will not be possible to maintain normal social distancing; helps skippers and participants to evaluate the risk and suggests some mitigations which may need to be implemented. It is important that skippers (in particular) determine a suitable number of crew whilst balancing the risk of Covid transmission vs the risks involved whilst carrying out manoeuvres and generally sailing and racing short-handed.

Sailing with mixed households is possible as part of activity that is not organised activity, but this should conform with the wider social contact regulations, which include social distancing with people outside of your family/friendship groups.

The maximum crew number should be decided by the ability for that crew to maintain social distancing afloat and other mitigations. Race organisers are encouraged to consider how imposing crew limitations might help support a level playing field for all competitors wishing to enter an event.

Can we organise on the water activity such as racing events?

Activity organised by an NGB, club, public body, qualified instructor, company or charity, and follows NGB guidance can resume and will not be subject to the legal gathering limits. This is because the organising body has considered the risks and set out ways to mitigate them so people can participate safely.

Organised sport participation events such as regattas can take place outdoors and are exempt from legal gathering limits.

If the activity is not organised by one of these groups, it is considered to be informal or self-organised sport and is subject to a maximum outdoor group capacity of 30 – multiple groups are permitted.

Gatherings that are not part of the boating activity are subject to the outdoor group capacity of 30 (multiple groups permitted). Therefore, participants should adhere to social distancing when not actively participating (e.g. around the boat park or marina). Social interaction before boating activity should only take place outdoors, and in separate and distinct groups consisting of up to 30 people.

Is volunteering at the club possible?

There is a legal exception to the wider limits on gatherings for volunteering purposes, alongside the Step 3 extension to the outdoor capacity of groups of up to 30 people; as such it is permissible for your club to organise lift-ins, working parties, committee meetings etc. Where volunteering is taking place indoors, despite the volunteering exception, you are advised to adhere to the Rule of 6/two households wherever possible.

Are we able to provide support to other people, even if that means close contact?

Yes. Social distancing should be maintained where possible, but in some circumstances, people will need physical assistance to be active. It is important you discuss this with the people involved and consider everyone's needs and preferences.

This is covered in the RYA Guidance referred to above and was informed by existing guidance from Government and organisations working with blind people.

The principles are to:

- check with everyone involved that they are happy to proceed,
- in the first place, offer support from within the same household or support bubble; if that is not possible try offering verbal instructions or provide equipment that reduces the need for support.
- if you do need to offer and receive support between people from different households then seek reassurance that everyone involved is symptom free, come up with a plan, limit the time spent at less than 2m, avoid face to face contact as much as possible, reduce the number of contacts people have and consider face coverings.

Can we use our hoist to assist people in and out of boats?

Yes, if additional mitigations are put in place to reduce the risk of virus transmission. The principles about providing support to other people should be used. To make sure you do this follow the 'Guidance for creating a COVID-19 secure club environment in England' and in particular the 'supporting other people' section.

Don't forget to ensure the maintenance and check regime is up to date.

Should our club make it compulsory for participants to be vaccinated against Covid-19?

Whilst the Government is reviewing the issue of Covid-19 status certification, at present these are not compulsory. It is likely that the law and practice will evolve in this area but for the moment it will be for clubs and centres to make a policy decision. This is a difficult area for front line organisations such as those providing health and social care services, and not one where clubs and centres are likely to be taking the lead.

A club or centre may decide it is not within their remit to make a vaccine a condition of membership or participation.

On the other hand, a club or centre may decide to adopt a policy that does require all members to have a Covid-19 vaccine. Such a policy would have to consider several legal issues including those relating to data protection, equality, human rights, and employment. Importantly it would have to include provision for individuals who, for a variety of reasons, may be unable to have the vaccine or who are further down the vaccination priority list.

Whatever they decide on the issue, clubs/centres should ensure their policy is clearly communicated to members, guests, volunteers, and staff etc.

It is worth noting that:

- Most of the evidence and expert opinion suggests that in the UK mandatory vaccination might well be counterproductive and do more harm than good to vaccine uptake.
- It would be logistically and administratively challenging for many clubs or centres to implement a policy requiring vaccination, and to then monitor and police it.
- We will be living with Covid-19 for a while and the vaccine is there to reduce deaths and serious impact from the virus. Vaccination is a part of protecting individuals, but we will still need to follow other measures to remain Covid-19 secure. There is a risk that a 'require vaccination policy' means people pay less attention to everything else they need to do to keep each other safe.

What should we do if we get challenged by the public when organising activity?

Public perceptions about what should be happening can be a barrier to restarting. Even where activity is possible under the regulations, organisations may come under additional scrutiny, including visits from the police. Many venues are in places with high public footfall, and this makes the issue of optics even more relevant.

Long term all clubs and centres need the support of their local communities, so they need to make sure there is support for what they are doing and how they are going about it. Engaging with key stakeholders locally and explaining what you are doing (and why) is important.

Step 4: no earlier than the 21 June (as per above and in addition)

The Government hopes to be able to remove all legal limits on social contact.
